ABOUT MYSELF

I am a dedicated and creative IT professional with experience in Linux server support, 3D modeling, and graphic design. With a strong background in troubleshooting, data migration, and visual design, I thrive on solving technical challenges and delivering high-quality results. My passion for technology and design drives me to continuously learn and improve. I am proficient in a range of software and programming languages, and I enjoy collaborating with clients to bring their ideas to life.

In my free time, I love exploring new design techniques, working on personal creative projects, and staying up-to-date with the latest tech trends.
